Inside The Numbers

WBO super welterweight champion Zayas added the WBA belt owned by Baraou (17-1, won last eight) before his hometown fans in San Juan by maximizing his advantages in mobility, hand speed, combination punching and work rate. The only times in which Baraou broke through was when Zayas voluntarily allowed toe-to-toe exchanges, especially in rounds nine (Zayas led 14-13 overall in a round that saw them exchange 115 total punches) and 12 (Baraou prevailed 31-29 in a round that saw them exchange 198 total punches and 165 power shots). Otherwise, Zayas was the ring general, and the results saw him throw more (62.2 punches per round to Baraou's 50.9), land more (176-134 overall, 54-16 body, 138-83 power), land more accurately overall (24%-22%) and in power shots (36%-24%), and finish the fight ahead 10-2 in the CompuBox round-by-round breakdown of total connects, though Baraou managed to get within three or fewer total connects in four other rounds. Baraou jabbed better (51-389 in connects, 20%-11% in accuracy), but his plodding pressure and less imaginative combinations ultimately let him down. Scoring: 116-112 (2x) Z, 116-112 B.
