Inside The Numbers

Eggington out-landed Walker in seven of the ten rounds, building a 19-jab and 24-power-punch advantage while using his reach to control distance, hitting Walker at range and shortening his power punches when Walker got inside. It all counted for nothing. Walker absorbed everything Eggington had to offer and dropped him with a body shot in the closing seconds of the eighth. Eggington climbed off the canvas and out-landed Walker in the ninth.

In the tenth, Walker hurt Eggington and pounced, unleashing a barrage that left him defenseless against the ropes. The referee stepped in at 1:59.
